Restriction and Election

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-25, and 30-33, drawn to a composition containing phenolic compounds and a method of preparing a composition enriched in phenolic compounds containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins, classified in class 536, subclass 8; class 549, subclass 403.
- II. Claims 26-29, drawn to a method for treating symptoms in a mammal caused by an infecting organism by administering a composition containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins and a method for suppressing the growth of pathogens in meat products by adding the composition containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins to meat products , classified in class 514, subclass 27; class 424, subclasses 732, and 777 .

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)).

In the instant case, the invention of Group I is directed to the composition containing phenolic compounds and a method of preparing a composition enriched in phenolic compounds containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins, whereas the invention of group II is directed to the method for treating symptoms in a mammal caused by the infecting organism by administering the composition containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins and the method for suppressing the growth of pathogens in meat products by adding the composition containing proanthocyanidins ,anthocyanins to meat products. However, the invention of Group II can be practiced with another materially different product as shown in Pfirrmann (US 6,011,030), in which Taurolidine and Taurultam can be useful for treating a patient with symptoms of microbial infection; also Tatini (US 4,871,563) discloses that the diacetyl compounds can kill bacterial spores. Therefore, in the instant case , they are two different inventions.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Sarah Smith on 7/20/05 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
